Forecast For Wales
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Friday 25 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
A wet Friday with a risk of thunder.

Today:
A wet day with rain becoming more widespread throughout the day. This rain will turn heavy at times for some and potentially turn thundery too. Feeling rather cool. Maximum temperature 18 deg C (64 deg F).

Tonight:
Rain will gradually ease overnight to become light and patchy. Cloud will begin to break up alongside showers beginning to develop by dawn. Minimum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Saturday:
Saturday will be a day of sunshine and showers before becoming largely dry with clear spells through the evening. Feeling warmer than Friday. Maximum temperature 22 deg C (72 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Becoming generally settled from Sunday to Tuesday, staying largely dry throughout with light winds, plenty of sunshine, and feeling warm. Risk of rain pushing into the south at times.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.